Dear Jayakumar,

I am pleased to announce that the Ramco Enterprise Series Solution has been successfully implemented in Madras Cements Limited (MCL) and the entire system is being operated on-line. Implementing a product with such depth and width across multiple locations within an aggressive time frame calls for tremendous effort from all those directly and indirectly associated with the project implementation. Feedback from the customer is very positive and Executives at both the decision making and operational levels are quite appreciative of the product as well as the quality of the major extensions and customizations done specifically for MCL. In fact, the head of the project team from MCL, while conveying his appreciation, has expressed that this is one of the smoothest ERP implementations he has ever heard off, creating almost nil disturbances during the changeover. MCL is using the application extensively and have already started reaping the benefits from the system.

To cap it all, the Chairman of Madras Cements and the Ramco Group, Shri. P.R. Ramasubrahmaneya Rajha has sent us, a letter of appreciation, congratulating every member of the project team on either side for having completed this massive and complex implementation as per the schedule to the full satisfaction of the MCL executives and staff.

Looking back, we are able to see the contribution of every member of the Ramco project team and the team from AmitySoft Private Limited, who has done a commendable job in testing and certifying the massive extensions and customizations as well as the major business cycles in the product. Implementation within a short span of time to the satisfaction of the customer calls for a solution of high quality and towards this, the part played by AmitySoft in testing the product is very significant and praiseworthy. The AmitySoft team combined very well with the MCL project team to work as a single harmonious unit, bringing in the synergy that has ultimately proved to be the key to success. The AmitySoft team exhibited a high level of knowledge, testing skills and commitment throughout the development cycle and on behalf of Ramco Systems I would like to congratulate every member of the team on the success of the project. I am sure Ramco Systems and AmitySoft would take this experience forward and work together in a concerted manner towards mutual benefit, in the forthcoming projects, as well.

Thanking you,

Best regards

Kamesh Ramamoorthy
